A Little Boy's Life

The tiny hand of a fetus, emerging from his mother's womb during surgery, belies the fallacy that the fetus is not a living being and may therefore be aborted upon demand. The fetus was named Samuel and is now 3 ½ years old (above right). Samuel enjoys bug-hunting at his home in Georgia.

Woe to the Pro-Choice

Have you given much thought
To the defense you will use
When you're asked to give an account

Of your inaction in regard
To the murder of babies
As their death toll continued to mount?

In your heart you just know
That God isn't 'Pro-Choice'
He knows babies before their conception.

And the Supreme Court ruling
On Roe vs. Wade
Is, quite simply, just evil deception.

So don't look to them
For help on that day
For they'll be on trial, too,

For the millions of babies
They allowed to be killed
As a result of their liberal view.

I wouldn't trade places
With any of them
Standing mute there in front of The Judge,

For there is no defense
They can use before God
When on abortion they refused to budge.
